

"The people of Union Carbide" referred to will soon include the people who will operate the CARBIDE plant under construction at Torrance.

The hotter...the better

Carbon has a peculiar quality—it's at its best when "the heat is on"

IN THE ROARING HEAT of steelmakers' furnaces, molten metals boil and bubble like water in a teakettle.

STANDING FIRM in the intense heat of many of these furnaces are inner walls made of blocks of carbon.

Because pure carbon laughs at heat—actually grows stronger as it gets hotter—it has become vitally important in making iron, steel, and many of the other things all of us use every day.

IN CHEMISTRY, carbon and its refined cousin, graphite, handle hot and violent chemicals that would quickly destroy metal or other materials. Today there are pumps, pipes, tank linings, even entire chemical-processing structures—all made of carbon or graphite.

UCC... AND CARBON—For over 60 years the people of Union Carbide have pioneered in the discovery, development, and production of many carbon and graphite products for both industry and the home. This is one more way in which UCC transforms the elements of nature for the benefit of all.
